

Professor David Radstone and Ms Elspeth Penny - How to communicate bad news to patients

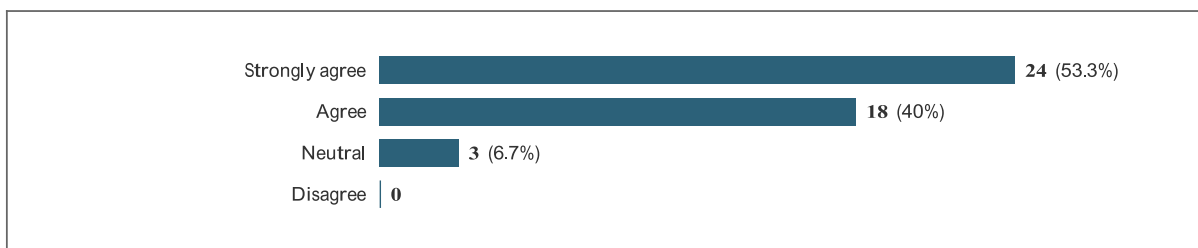

Speaker's knowledge and insight:

Clarity of communication:

I would recommend to others:

Free-text comments:

- Thank you
- The role play seemed daunting at first but it was a really good way to get feedback and think more clearly about one's own approach.
- I absolutely loved this session and hoped it was a little bit longer and found it really useful as it gave me ideas to use in my workplace.
- Very helpful discussion about role of touch in practice and different attitudes to this amongst our group
- too intense for audience participation...most people don't like being forced to role-play in front of strangers